International Day Against Drug Abuse is celebrated on June 26 to raise awareness about the dangers of drug abuse. It seeks to educate society, promote the prevention and treatment of addictions, as well as foster international cooperation. During this day, activities such as awareness campaigns, conferences and community events are carried out. The need to address the problem in a comprehensive manner and promote healthy lifestyles free of addictions is emphasized.
