

National Police Day

This December 6th is celebrated the 'Day of the National Police of Peru', the institution in charge of guaranteeing and maintaining internal order in the country. The date commemorates the grouping of the Civil Guard, the Investigative Police and the Republican Guard into a single police force, which occurred in 1988.

Today, the National Police is an agency dependent on the Ministry of the Interior, and ensures the free exercise of citizen rights and the normal development of day-to-day activities.

It should be noted that the PNP's functions are to prevent, investigate and combat crime; monitor and control the borders, as well as guarantee compliance with the laws and the security of public and private assets.
